Susan Oliveras Tapped for Lead in Dora The Explorer Live! Tour

Tour Will Travel to 50 Cities Nationwide in 2009

NEW YORK, Jan. 12 -- New York actress Susan Oliveras has been tapped to portray the world's most famous Latina explorer -- Dora the Explorer -- in the upcoming tour of Dora The Explorer Live! Search for the City of Lost Toys. The tour kicks off in York, PA on Jan. 27, 2009 and will hit 50 US cities, including a stop at New York City's Radio City Music Hall, April 8 to 12.

Oliveras is a New York native who attended the city's renowned Fame high school, the Fiorello H. LaGuardia High School of Music and Art and Performing Arts. In true aspiring actress fashion, after she graduated college, she hit the open call circuit and landed in a tour of Ferdinand the Bull before being cast as Dora.

"Dora's determination and self-confidence are important in a way that defines who she is as a person," says Oliveras. "I admire that, and it definitely speaks to me as a person. Audiences take away the fact that no matter who they are, if they believe in themselves, it will take them further than they ever imagined."

An international phenomenon, Dora the Explorer is syndicated to TV broadcasters in 125 markets and translated into 24 languages, Dora the Explorer is one of the top rated preschool shows in nearly every major television market around the world across broadcast and cable. Since launching in 2001, "Dora the Explorer Live" productions have been hugely successful with record breaking attendance across hundreds of markets in the USA, the United Kingdom, France, Israel, Southeast Asia, Australia and New Zealand.

Search for the City of Lost Toys is a culturally-rich theatrical show for preschoolers and their families and features a captivating storyline, as well as all the characters children have come to love: Backpack, Dora's friend Boots, cousin Diego, Map, Swiper the Fox and Tico and Benny. Each step of the gang's journey consists of a problem or puzzle that Dora and the audience must solve together in order to move on to the next challenge.
